Mosaikify is a user-friendly software solution designed to provide you with an quick means of creating mosaic pictures from your favorite holiday images or birthday party phots. The program is quite simple to understand and work with, so regardless of your level of experience with similar utilities, you will figure out how to work properly with Mosaikify in little to no time. First off, you need to select your pattern image, that is to say the picture that will represent the base on which you will be building your mosaic, and it will be displayed in the tool's main window, allowing you to witness the process gradually. The next step is to choose the tile images; for this, you need a picture folder of at least 100 photos, in order for the application to have sufficient working material. As such, if the files you want to use are in separate directories, you will need to place them all in the same location. Subsequently, you will need to choose your mosaic size, in either centimeters or inches. You can use custom height and width values or you can choose from the standard sizes, the one you prefer. Similarly, you can move the focus of the tool on a specific part of the image that you like best. When done, you can press the 'Make your Mosaic' button which will open a window allowing you to adjust the brightness, contrast, background colors and other details. Finally, you can click on 'Mosaikify Now' and the application will begin to process your tile images, then display the result in its main screen, enabling you to look over it using a magnifying glass to see how it looks in detail. Afterward, you can save it to JPG format and store it on your PC. To conclude, Mosaikify is a great utility that can help you create real-looking mosaics from your vacation pictures or party photos, so you can display them all in a single picture for your friends and family to enjoy. Mosaikify ... process to run on my Mac, but don't bother telling me it is a "layer-based program" like Photoshop. No, my grandmother can't use it. I hate when Apple Computer tries to kid people into thinking Photoshop is something simple like Mosaikify. I have attached my reaction to you, Steve. Do you see the sarcasm? Ha.
