Updated: Jun 15, 2019 17:56 IST The
Supreme Court on Monday indicated it is ready to provide a “road map” for the implementation of the Gujarat government’s proposed Sabarimala temple complex at an early date. A three-judge bench headed by Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi sought to clarify points of law in a PIL (public interest litigation) filed against the government's proposal to implement the Kerala's 'triple talaq' bill in the temple town. The benches will meet again on Tuesday to take up the issue. During the hearing, the judges referred to the temple management committee's report, which suggested the state's Kerala law be implemented in the temple town. The bench directed the government to respond on all the seven issues raised in the petition, which contended that the Kerala law violates the fundamental rights of Muslim women to choose from whom they wish to get a divorce and from whom they wish to get married. “Make a roadmap for implementation of the Kerala legislation. Let us know on the same day,” said a bench comprising Justices Ranjan Gogoi, A K Sikri and Ashok Bhushan. The bench also said that the government will be directed to file a report on this issue on August 8, 2019. The top court said that the state's central law will be enforced only after the apex court decides whether it passes constitutional muster. The committee's report has not been considered by the government, which only did a preliminary examination before sending it for its final approval. The bench questioned the state

government's stand on not taking any action on the report and said the administration had not even discussed it in the top court. "It's inconceivable that the same matter can be left hanging for two years by itself. Such an attitude will not be allowed,” the bench said. The bench directed the Kerala government to file a status report on the implementation of its legislation and said it will have to devise a plan to execute it.

“Details, as and when needed, will be incorporated in the roadmap,” the bench said. “We will get a
roadmap for the
Kerala legislation,

I want to collect emails for my scrapers and i'd like to know if there's a program that can do this automatically, with using PHP and an API. I'm trying to collect emails which are inserted in the database with PHP and via API. How Can I get the link to the data or can I to fill it with PHP? I have a script to download the data when you click on the link but how can I see the data it's stored so I can put it in the database via the API which I have previously and use the GET method for the PHP?
